It's easy to search Wikibooks by topic, and there are separate sections for recipes and childrens' textbooks. You can download any page as a PDF using a link provided in the left-hand menu, but unfortunately there's no support for other formats. There's also Collection Creator - a handy tool that lets you collate several pages, organize them, and export them together (again, in PDF format). It's a nice feature that enables you to customize your reading material, but it's a bit of a hassle, and is really designed for readers who want printouts. The easiest way to read Wikibooks is simply to open them in your web browser.

The Veritas Forum is a group of leading Christian thinkers who explore issues of truth (and its relevancy) at college campuses such as Harvard and Yale. A Place For Truth: Leading Thinkers Explore Lives Hardest Questions is a collection of those speeches from 1995 to 2009. Given the medium jump (clearly this would make for a great set of podcasts) some of the speeches lose a little of their impact in the transition to the written word.
