A Year in the Merde is a comic novel by Stephen Clarke first published in 2004 under the pen name Paul West. In later editions, the author's real identity was revealed. In France, the book title is God save la France . Paul West is in fact the first-person narrator, a 27-year-old Englishman, single and unattached, who is recruited by a French entrepreneur and given a one-year contract in Paris to plan and organise a chain of tea rooms which his employer wants to open in the French capital.

A Year in the Merde - Wikipedia

A Year in the Merde is the almost-true account of the author's adventures as an expat in Paris. Based on his own experiences and with names changed to "avoid embarrassment, possible legal action-and to prevent the author's legs being broken by someone in a Yves Saint Laurent suit", the book is narrated by Paul West, a twenty-seven-year-old Brit who is brought to Paris by a French company to open a chain of British "tea rooms."

A Year in the Merde: Stephen Clarke: Bloomsbury USA

It's all used humorously and adds to the picture Clarke paints of the British and the French, exposing the differences in culture when it comes to such matters. A Year in the Merde is extremely entertaining and endlessly witty. Unless you're just uptight and overly defensive about the French, you'll enjoy this book.
