C.G. Jung is the founding father of analytic psychology (analysis of the human mind, psyche and the unconscious, as well as the conscious components of the mind) advancing the idea of Introvert and extrovert personalities, archetypes and the power of the unconscious. This is all very interesting but a problem of J.

Introducing Jung by Maggie Hyde - Goodreads
Carl Gustav jung was a controversial disciple of Sigmund Freud. This elegantly written, crisply illustrated guide explains the theories that led Jung to break away from Freud and describes his own near psychotic breakdown in mid-life, a "night-sea voyage" from which he emerged with better insights into the nature of the unconscious mind.

Carl Jung rejected the tabula rasa theory of human psychological development. He proposed that thoughts, connections, behaviors, and feelings exist within the human race such as belonging, love, death, and fear, among others. These constitute what Jung called as "collective unconscious" and the concept of archetypes underpin this notion. He believed that evolutionary pressures have individual ...
