I must applaud Whelan for giving us a story that respects the reader with an interesting tale that won't overtax a growing reader. The story, set in Alaska, is told from the point of view of a young girl whose father runs the Rondy and Iditarod. Silver is the runt of a litter of sled dogs that she raises with dreams of running the Iditarod herself.

Before you go thinking Gloria Whelan's 2000 novel about a teen growing up in India sounds a little depressing, let us tell you this: It is—but there's still a lot to love in Homeless Bird. Koly has more than her fair share of tough stuff to navigate (so maybe quit complaining about doing your own laundry, mmkay?), but she also has fun a lot, too.
